Case Study

THE CLIENT:

Bell Classics are a leading specialist in the restoration, sales and servicing of classic Ferraris and Aston Martins.

Established in 1989 Bell Classics has recently moved into their purpose built state of the art workshop and showroom facility. Designed specifically to enable them to better provide "the exceptional standards of care our clients demand".

The garage is made up of seven individual workshop bays designed exclusively for restoration, servicing and maintenance work. A bespoke machine shop, 'clean' room for engine assembly and a dedicated spares department as well as a showroom and offices.

THE PROJECT:

"We required a bespoke storage solution to enable us to provide an exceptional level of service in a professional environment creating functionality without compromising on design. The nature of our business and our policy of open access to our clients means our technicians work spaces must be well-ordered at all times.

System Store Solutions were able to provide us with a full service, and from design through to installation the process was seamless. The design flows easily through all the different areas of the facility and we have been able to fully optimise our work space. We are delighted with the finished product."
